A Lady Badly Hurt.

Yesterday Mrs. John Walton, while dressing to attend a meeting of a society of which she is a member, tripped and fell, straining her hip painfully, and perhaps seriously. She will be laid up for some time.

Will Go Back to Coal.

One manufacturing concern, at least, has become wearied of the uncertainty of the natural gas supply during cold snaps, and has taken heroic measures to obviate any annoyance in the future, and that is the North Wheeling glass works. This concern, after a two weeks' shut down on account of a lack of natural gas, will resume operations to-day on a coal basis, the old reliable and time-honored fuel. This will be good news to the employees of the establishment, who have been in enforced idleness on account of the slack amount of natural gas.

An Important Chancery Order.

In the circuit court yesterday in the case of the National bank of Albuquerque, N. M., vs. Archibald Wilson and others, in chancery, an order was entered permitting the action to be dismissed agreed to as A. C. Wilson, Corinne H. Wilson, administratrix of John E. Wilson, deceased; the Wheeling Iron and Nail Company, the Bank of the Ohio Valley, and the Exchange Bank of Wheeling, the Etina Fire and Marine Insurance Company, the Northwestern Virginia Agricultural Association, the Citizens' Railway Company and Henry Hornbrook, but this without prejudice as to further proceedings against other parties in interest.

Wheeling Men Whipped.

A big scrapping match took place in and near Dan Haley's saloon in Etinaville the other evening. Seven employees at the Creek mill attempted to do up four or five Etina-Standard mill men, but as usual the latter were victorious. One of the Wheeling men drew a butcher knife on one of the Etinaville men, who struck at him with sledge hammer force and his fist struck the wall, making it so sore that he is unable to work. The Wheeling men were chased across the Back river bridge and that ended the scrap. Two or three of the Etina-Standard men who participated are foot ball players, and they were the heroes.

The Assault on Glass Workers.

Thomas Tonner, the Wellsburg man who came to Wheeling on Monday morning with James Lauck to go to St. Clairsville as a witness, and who escaped a beating with a base ball bat, knucklers, etc., in the hands of the Squire's Ferry strikers, says that they were followed to Wellsburg by a union glassworker of Martin's Ferry. Tonner says the union man got on the train just after it started in Martin's Ferry, talked with them going up and coming down on the train, spent Sunday in Wellsburg and tried hard to persuade them not to come back, and disappeared at the Pewky depot in Wheeling, when the gang proceeded to do up Lauck. The latter was reported to be doing fairly well yesterday. No arrests have yet been made.

In the Justice's Courts.

Squire Gillespy yesterday fined Isaac Gray $1 and costs for profanity, $1 and costs for being drunk, and $5 and costs in each of two cases of assault. The case of John Love, charged with assault, was dismissed.

Mrs. Mary Snell, charged by her husband, John Snell, with assault, was dismissed. All who heard the case said the man's treatment of the woman was outrageous. In Squire Rogers' court the cases of John Ogdeby and Mrs. Ogdeby, his divorced wife, alias Margaret Whisson, were tried to a jury and they were found guilty and fined $20 and costs, and in default of the cash sent to jail for ten days. The woman swore she was Ogdeby's divorced wife. She has two small children at home, and the justice let her go to them on her own recognition.

The New Canning Works at Don.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Don Canning Company, over the river, yesterday, it was decided to double the capacity of the works this spring. This will give the works a floorage of 10,000 square feet and a capacity of 18,000 cans daily. The cannery will be operated about ten months in the year, the product consisting of tomatoes, catsup, pickles, olives, jams, preserves, jellies, soups, etc. The company will have its own moulds for jars and bottles. The making of soups will be given considerable attention, and these will be made almost every month in the year. The manufacture and canning of soup is extensively carried on in New York and Indianapolis, and the Don people expect to make as good goods as can be made. Up to yesterday contracts had been made for sixty-seven acres of tomatoes for the coming season. One farmer cleared as high as $70 an acre on the tomatoes he sold to this firm last season, and others $50, $55 and so on.

THE LARGEST NUMBER

Of Convicts in the Moundville Penitentiary.

A BIG DELEGATION YESTERDAY.

Fayette County, Already Well Represented in the Prison, Adds Another Party of Robbers, Kloters, Etc.—Three Sons of One Couple Now Confined There.

The population of the Moundville penitentiary was increased yesterday to 483, making the highest number by six that has ever been confined there at any one time.

The county of Fayette sent a delegation of six, five men and one woman, convicted at the last court. The criminals were safely landed via the Ohio River railroad at noon yesterday, and as they were marched up through the city they attracted a good deal of attention. Their names are Thomas Quarrels and Albert Monroe, who got seven years each for robbery; Thomas Despot, a three year timer, for murder; Lizzie Jefferson, for unlawfully stabbing a woman, gets three years, and Bob and Cal Clendennin, brothers, and two rather tough characters who figured prominently in the riot at Eagle last February, get a year each. Another brother recently arrived at the state institution and is now serving a life sentence for committing murder, which makes three boys of the same family now confined there.

Sheriff E. G. Humm brought up the prisoners and was accompanied by M. I. Simms, John Toman, H. J. Tucker, George Moreau, P. H. Skaggs and J. M. Callaway as guards.

DOWN IN DIXIE.

Mr. Heiskell Likes "Tariff Bill" Wilson, But Has no Use for His Tariff Tinkering.

A pleasure party of prominent people from West Virginia are guests at the Grunewald, says the New Orleans Picayune. They are D. L. Heiskell, president of the Warwood Tool Company, in Wheeling; Dr. John L. Dickey and wife, Mrs. Susan Hildreth, Mrs. W. S. Brady, Mrs. Delaplaine and Miss Hulda. They will spend several days in New Orleans, and will then go to the gulf coast. From there they will travel into Florida.

Mr. Heiskell, speaking with a representative of the Picayune, said that the new tariff had demoralized the industries in West Virginia. The Wilson bill, he said, had caused a large number of them to be closed down.

"Although a Republican," said the gentleman, "I am a great admirer of Hon. William L. Wilson as a tariff reformer. Mr. Wilson's defeat in our state is regarded from a personal standpoint as a loss. We admire the integrity and accomplishments of the man, and wish to see him put on the supreme bench. As a tariff bill framer we are not at all devoted to him nor to his party, for that matter. You see, our section of the country is filled with industries which the system of protection has fostered. To make a radical change and destroy that protection is to close down those industries, and that has been the practical result. Aside from any principle, and looking at the matter from a business standpoint, the new tariff bill has hurt us immeasurably. We are therefore glad Mr. Wilson was defeated, save from a standpoint of personal regard. We believe he missed his calling when he took to tampering with the tariff.

"The effect on us is similar to the result brought to the planters of your state by the repeal of the bounty. Whether the bounty was good or bad, constitutional or unconstitutional, we will not discuss. Suffice it to say the planters of Louisiana are not so well off and business here is not so lively as it would or might have been with a continuation of the protective system. We must consider the tariff as it comes home to us. Whether it is a local issue or not, it has its local effect. I know that as far as West Virginia is concerned, and your people of Louisiana may think for yourselves as to the effect here. You can judge that better than I can."

Mr. Heiskell took a hopeful view of the existing situation of affairs, and believes the country will return to prosperity and the Republican party.
